New Alaskan Gold Rush Next Spring Predicted

Bishop Rowe Tells of Prospect-ing Indicating Rich Fields in Chandelar Region

The Right Rev. Dr. Peter Trimble Rowe, Episcopal Bishop of Alaska, in New York yesterday on his way to Washington on mutters concerning fishing rights of the Alaskan natives, which he declares are being infringed by canning companies, said he believed another gold strike rivaling that of the Yukon is imminent in the Chandelar another gold strike rivaling that of the Yukon is imminent in the Chandelar region of Alaska.

The district referred to is about 200 miles north of the Yukon. Oldtimers of the Jistrict, Bishop Rowe said, are convinced from recent prospecting that an extensive gold field will be uncovered shortly. Owing to the secretiveness of the men engaged in prospecting it was impossible to name the exact locality in which encouraging signs have been found, but general opinion in the country was that spring would inaugurate another Alaskan gold rush, the Bishop said.

Bishop Rowe has been in charge of missionary work of the Episcomal Church in Alaska twenty-seven years. He said canning interests have extended their activities so far up the Yukon as to endanger the native food supply.
